McKinstry, Tillis win Pahokee races

By ALMA HENRY

PAHOKEE—One incumbent is in and one is out. In the Pahokee City Council election held Tuesday, Council chairman William "Billy" McKinstry up for his third consecutive two year term on the Council defeated Robert "Rob" Welty in Group I by three votes. McKinstry received 355 votes and Welty received 322 votes.

In Group II, political newcomer, George Tillis defeated the President Pro-tem of the Council, Curtis Miners by 64 votes. Miners received 289 votes and Tillis received 353 votes.

According to City Clerk Betty McCoy a total of 683 votes were cast. Thirty-nine absentee votes were turned in this years election. McCoy said last year only nine absentee votes were counted.

There were five spoiled votes. McCoy said "there are always some misvotes because there is a lack of knowledge about how to operate the votermatic machine.

Unlike last year when the election hoopla was missing, candidates this year gathered on the front lawn of City Hall to talk with voters going to the polls in the City Fire station adjacent to City Hall.

Last year, there was no last minute tub thumping, electioneering and no campaign pamphlets were allowed to be handed to voters as they entered the polling place.

A candidate last year asked that the state election code be enforced, which stipulates that soliciting votes or opinions within 100 yards of a polling place is a first degree misdemeanor.

Soon after the elections last year, the Council passed an ordinance allowing people and candidates to congregate as before under the trees in front of City Hall.

Soon after the polls opened Tuesday, Tillis and his supporters set up a table under the trees and were soon followed by the other candidates as the day grew long.

When the polls opened at 7 a.m., all four candidates were there to cast their ballots and McKinstry dropped the first official ballot into the ballot box.

With the flow of voters coming in a slow but steady stream throughout the day, approximately 30 voters voted during the first hour the polls were opened.

At 7 p.m., there were no long lines of people waiting to vote and Patsy Mills dropped the last ballot in the box before McCoy closed the polls.

In the Council chambers Tuesday night a smaller number of residents of all ages awaited the returns. Immediately after the tabulations were in, Miners congratulated Tillis and wished him well.

Welty who also bid for the post of Mayor last year although he lost by only three votes he would not ask for a recount.

McKinstry said he was glad he had won and was glad the election was over.

McKinstry said he lost a bid by four votes in 1960 to Lloyd Hundley and knew what it felt like to lose by such a close margin.

South Bay readies water conservation measures

By SCOTT ELLIS

South Bay will be ready to cooperate if mandatory or voluntary water conservation measures are imposed in South Florida due to the region's near-drought.

At the regular meeting of the South Bay City Commission Tuesday night, City Manager Lomax Harrelle showed commissioners proposed city water conservation guidelines that could go into effect if the South Florida Water Management District goes ahead with its expected water rationing efforts. The commission approved the guidelines, which Manager Harrelle sent to the District.

The guidelines would ask residents to reduce or eliminate irrigation usage.

Belle Glade reacts to water emergency

By JIM JONES

Faced with declining water levels in Lake Okechobee which imperil the City of Belle Glade's drinking and industrial water supply, City Commissioners authorized the emergency expenditure of up to $30,000 for a new water pump Monday, May 4.

Earlier in the day, Mayor Thomas Altman had issued a call for a "concentrated, voluntary effort" to reduce water usage.

Citizens have been asked to discontinue lawn watering, car washing, and other non-essential usages of water.

"Your city is taking steps to improve our capability to produce adequate amounts of water, but until those steps are completed, your help is needed and will be greatly appreciated," Altman said.

At Monday night's special meeting, City Manager Rolfe Wagner said that the city's northern inlet pump structure on the lake is now out of water. The bulk of the city's raw water supply is now coming from two pumps on the rim canal, but these sources could be threatened within the next two weeks if the water continues to decline.

Director of Public Works Ron Sigmon said the two rim canal pumps provide about 4.8 million gallons of water a day.

Wagner said that the two pumps, one powered by a diesel engine, and the other by an electric motor, could not alone provide all of the city's residential and industrial needs.

Should the diesel-driven pump suffer a mechanical break down, the electrical pump would probably fail soon after because of its increased workload.

Engineering consultant Jack Dillard of Briley Wild and Associates said that the city could mount a pump on a barge in the rim canal to avoid suction problems created by declining water levels.

Sigmon said that the emergency purchase of a new pump has become necessary to meet the low water problems and that only question revolved around where to place the pump.

Dillard said that when the new pump is obtained, the two pumps on the rim canal would be shut down.

Commissioners unanimously approved the plan.

Water emergency declared here

Jack Maloy, director of the South Florida Water Management District signed a declaration at 10 a.m. Wednesday, May 6, that a water shortage emergency exists.

Under the declaration, all water users will be asked to cut 10 percent of their water use (based on average consumption over the previous 10 days).

Should the lake level continue to decline, the district may ask later for a 25 percent reduction in water usage.

Briefly

Navigation alert given

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers advises that based on an April 20 survey, a controlling depth of five feet exists in the Rim Canal from Buoy No. 1 to Daymarker No. 4A, south of Fort Mayaca Lock.

A full project depth-based on a lake elevation of 12.56 feet above mean sea level is not available. Elevation as of April 20 was 11.93 feet.

A hard shoal with a controlling depth of five feet exists in the main Route 1 Channel northeast of Clewiston, extending from Daymarker No. 6 to Daymarker No. 2.

Boats passing through the waterway should exercise caution and take the reduced level into consideration until Lake Okechobee's level returns to normal and dredging is performed to restore project depths.

Pahokee does the impossible: wins boys, girls state track championships

By JIM JONES

On a 62 degree night at Sherwin Field in Winter Park Saturday, May 2, Pahokee High School did the impossible: The Blue Devils won both the boys and the girls state track and field championships.

Winning state track championships is almost old hat for boys coach Antonio Russell. After all, he had won three state crowns previously. Girls coach, Eddie Buckner had come close several times, but had never attained the top prize.

"This team had more depth. We had a lot of good quality kids," Russell said of the championship.

Pahokee's boys and Pace High School from Milton shared the boys championship with 36 points each.

Pahokee's arch-rival, Clewiston, actually helped the Blue Devils win the championship. Clewiston won the evening's final event, the mile relay, knocking Pace down a peg, and letting Pahokee finish in a tie for the championship.

Sprinter Albert Gray led Pahokee to the win, personally accounting for 17 points. There were other Blue Devil heroes as well who helped reach the magic 36 point level, such as Lee Powell and Mike McCarty.

Gray won the 440 yard dash with a time of 49.8, placed second in the 220 yard dash with a time of 22.2, and was second in the 100 yard dash with a time of 10.1.

Mike McCarthy scored eight points for Pahokee as he placed third in the 130 high hurdles with a time of 18.00 and third in the 330 intermediate hurdles with a time of 41.00.

Joe McKelton grabbed a second place in the high jump with a leap of 6-2.

Lee Powell made a huge contribution to Pahokee's effort by running the final leg on the mile relay team, coming from behind to give the Blue Devils a win in its best. Powell had never raced in anything longer than a 220 this year and was on the verge of collapse as he crossed the finish line.

"I respect our kids for going all out. Our individuals did a great job. One thing about Pahokee kids, if they have a chance to win, they'll go all out," Russell said.

Pahokee's 440 relay team of Michael Rawls, Vinton Oliver, Jeffrey Mullins and Lee Powell was fourth.

The Blue Devils flirted with disaster in the mile medley team which placed third but was disqualified for stepping

National Hospital Week declared in Pahokee by Mayor Norman

PAHOKEE — Mayor Norma Norman proclaimed May 10 through 16 "National Hospital Week" in the City of Pahokee.

Mayor Norman signed the proclamation Monday, May 4, at City Hall with Frank Steinberger, hospital administrator for Everglades Memorial Hospital looking on.

Mayor Norman told Steinberger and several members of the hospital staff, "on behalf of the City Officials and residents of the City, he congratulates the Board of Trustees, Administration and the employees of Everglades Memorial Hospital for the outstanding job they have been and are doing in providing health care second to none at our local hospital."

Hospital, located at 200 S. Barfield Highway, is one of the oldest continuous hospitals in Palm Beach County. The local hospital will be 45 years old in September.

Steinberger said "working in Pahokee, with Everglades Memorial Hospital is a true pleasure, that many people cannot even comprehend."

"For most of my life I have been associated with corporations located in the metropolitan areas, and really never gave thought to the rural areas."

Since I have come to Everglades Memorial Hospital I have seen first hand that the stories of how small towns pull together in time of emergency and need, are true," he added.

Steinberger said "he wanted to take this opportunity to thank the Board of Trustees for their leadership in providing such a progressive hospital."

I must give the real credit where it is due; to the employees of Everglades Memorial Hospital, because without their loyal dedication there could not be the outstanding health care given in the hospital," he added.

The proclamation reads: WHEREAS, May 10-16, 1981, has been designated national hospital week and

WHEREAS, the theme for national hospital week celebration is "Looking Well Into The Future", and

WHEREAS, the community of Pahokee joins the nation in paying tribute to the dedicated hospital people who provide skilled and compassionate health care to our citizens.

NOW, THEREFORE, I Norma Norman, as Mayor of Pahokee do hereby proclaim May 10-16, 1981, as Hospital Week in Pahokee and urge its citizens to take cognizance of this event and to participate fittingly in its observance.

Glades General gets go ahead on building plans

Glades General Hospital received the go-ahead on plans to construct a new emergency room facility Wednesday, April 8th, from the Health Planning Council.

After reviewing the Certificate of Need application submitted by hospital administrator, Patrick Lennon, the project committee recommended that a new emergency facility be approved.

Plans for the emergency family include an X-ray room, two trauma rooms, pediatric care, cardio-vascular, orthopedics and casts.

The new ER would provide more comprehensive emergency treatment in many specialized areas.

The present facility serves approximately 14,000 emergency room patients each year, the majority of which visit the hospital between the hours of 5 p.m. and midnight. This is a 35 percent service increase since 1970. The new facility will better accommodate emergency room patients and outpatients. The increase in emergency services is partially attributed to the fact that nearly 2,000 Haitian and Cuban refugees have located in the Glades Area and use the emergency room as the entry point into the health care system.

Advanced Life Support is currently being offered at the hospital.

laws sprinkling and car and trailer washing.

The city plans to let residents know of the temporary guidelines via staffers in regular city billings, radio, TV and newspapers.

Increased leak detection, distribution of water saving devices and pressure reductions are also planned, according to the guidelines.

Harrelle said South Bay's water shortage is no worse than other shortages cities in South Florida are facing, although South Bay's shortage is much worse than last years. In fact, he said it was the worst drought he can remember.

"Fortunately, we are not in the same position as other larger towns," Harrelle said. "We are smaller and we don't have the large industrial usage other towns on the coast do."

An ordinance, which would prohibit the discharge of firearms in the city was given its first reading, with all present commission members voting in favor of it. Absent were Commissioners Verita Cox and Sammy Rogers.

The gun ordinance would allow shooting in rifle ranges or in certain contests and would not prohibit ownership. The ordinance would require a $500 fine for each violation.

Establishment of a Municipal Code Enforcement Board was discussed, with a first reading of an ordinance that would establish it given approval. With the abolishment of municipal courts in Florida, many cities have established municipal boards to handle local and minor code violations to keep county courts from being burdened with them, City Attorney James Gann said. The ordinance the commission is considering was drawn up by Gann, and is based on similar boards in other Palm Beach County municipalities.

"It (the board) would not be, in a judicial sense, a court... but it will take care of 90 percent of your minor code violations," Gann said. "It would also provide for appeal."

Gann said a majority of county cities have established enforcement boards.

Other ordinances given first readings were: an ordinance which would strengthen the city's nuisance laws.

Mayor Don Tanner also proclaimed May 10-16 as Municipal Clerk Week, honoring City Clerk Virginia Walker. Walker was elected to the Florida Association of City Clerks' Board of Directors at the group's convention last month. Belle Glade City Clerk June Boglioli was elected second vice president.

In other action the commission accepted a lone bid from Glade and Grove Supply of $4,050 for a new ditch bank mower. It accepted another lone bid from Glade and Grove of $12,900 for a new tractor. The city will receive a $2,900 trade-in allowance on its old tractor.

A workshop to discuss recreation bids is set for 7 p.m. Wednesday at City Hall.

The city also approved its bills, and heard a complaint from a city resident about his water and city services bill.

Pahokee—

"Every vote does count," said McKinstry.

After the swearing in of the new candidates, George Rashley was named the new Council chairman and Jon Mock the President Pro-Tem.

In other business before the Council:

- Gave Jim Sloane the City Consultant engineer the approval to go ahead with a rate study of the water, sewer and impact fees for the city.
- Retained all city employees and departments heads.

- Agreed to have Mayor recommend to the Council at the next meeting his findings on the spending of a $50,000 grant the city received from the County recreation department.

- And asked local citizens to go on a 10 per cent volunteer reduction in water consumption.

Mayor Norman said if the volunteer program is not working within 10 days, South Florida Water Management District will impose a 25 percent water reduction usage on the city.

expenditure of up to $30,000 for the purchase and installation of a new pump. In the interim, a five million gallon capacity per day pump left high and dry by declining lake levels, will be placed on the rim canal to take over for the smaller pumps in operation.

When the new pump is obtained and permanently installed on the rim canal, the five million capacity pump will be moved back to its old location on the lake. The new pump will be purchased from Tru-Flo of Belle Glade.

Monday, commissioners also approved a resolution finalizing the purchase of four mowers from International Harvester Corp. for a total of $14,340.99. The mowers had been used by International Harvester's Lawn and Garden Division for an experimental mowing program in Belle Glade. When the division was purchased by another company, the test program was cancelled. The City of Belle Glade was given the opportunity to buy the mowers at a price far below dealer cost.

Present at Monday's special meeting were Mayor Tom Altman, Commissioners Randy Davidson, Clyde Tindall, and Charles Goodlett. Commissioner Dorothy Walker was absent.

HOW I SEE ITShould legal services continue?

More and more we read about the Legal Services Corporation program facing serious trouble with the Reagan Administration. The Administration has proposed serious budget cuts and a possible stopping of all federal monies to the program.

Established in the 70's to assist poor people seeking relief from state and local laws, those threats to cut and all but eliminate legal services has cause for some to have great concern.

Some say LSC is a shining example of what a just government can do for its people. It's expensive all right, but is it so expensive that the alternative of keeping millions of Americans as second-class citizens without access to the legal system and to equal justice more attractive?

A society that requires its citizens to live within the law must ensure that they have access to the institutions and remedies of the legal system regardless of economic circumstances. If a free society is to be, equal justice must be more than a slogan scribbled across the walls of courthouses. It must be a living force which permeates the disparate groups in our society and unifies our people.

In 1981, it saddens me to realize we again need to reaffirm the importance of equal access to the law on behalf of the poor, the elderly and the disabled. But I for one, will maintain hope that Congress will continue to give support to the LSC. However I do believe in addition to that support, executive and congressional guidelines need to be established and adhere to. The three congresses, the executive office and LSC should work together and not against each other.

To do less would do violence to our future as well as our past history.

President Reagan needs to recognize that the move to destroy legal services is unwarranted, unfair, and unwise. Those on the right should do some homework rather than letting their emotions run wild. They would, on close examination, find they are off the mark.

Much of the hostility of LSC comes from the adversary nature of dispute resolution in the country. Controversy is the nature of the legal profession. If you take on a public utility or you take on the county welfare system department, you are taking on the nerve centers of influential people who can make themselves heard.

Actually legal services lawyers spend less time than one think on class action suits.

The inability to utilize the legal system can be, and often is, disastrous for the poor in ways that are almost unimaginable for others. Lack of education and thin economic margins on which the poor live, make law a crucial instrument of survival.

Love and marriage

Mention marriage to the career bachelor and you will probably get the same disgusted look that comes over a sugar cane grower's face when he sits down to dinner at a restaurant and spots saccharine in the sugar bowl.

Almost everyone agrees, however, that love and marriage are an unbreakable combination. Back in the 1950s, someone even sang about love and marriage going together like a horse and carriage.

Given the opportunity, I might make a different comparison, such as oysters and habanero sauce, smooth, but with just enough spice to make it interesting.

Love and marriage have provided the spice of many conversations. Given a few idle moments, folks will sooner or later turn their discussion to everyone's favorite topic. Chances are, people are talking about it right now over the fence, down at the shop, around the office coffee pot, and between innings of the softball game.

During our lives, most of us will marry at least once and a few of us as many as nine or 10 times. Some will be lucky and find the love of their life early on and enjoy a long life together. Others will have bittersweet memories of love found and then lost. The bittersweet lovers become the grist for poets, while the more prolific marriers become the fodder for gossip columnists.

Having experienced both marriage and bachelorhood, I can say that I infinitely prefer marriage. You may have heard me say something derogatory about the "poor sucker biting the dust" when a longtime bachelor finally fell under the spell of a female. I didn't mean it. I was just joking.

I'm far happier as a married man than I was as a bachelor. After being married more than 10 years, it's a hard to remember exactly what it was like being single.

The one memory that sticks out, however, is one of searching. As a bachelor, I was always searching for the next date, for the right approach to meeting girls, for the easiest way to clean up my apartment, for the most painless way of cooking my meals, and most of all, how to avoid being lonely.

Some folks are perfectly happy playing the field and living the swinging bachelor life. Others look for something else in life, even if it requires getting married a lot. The often-married person is an incurable romantic.

Fortunately, I've only been married once. And being a cheap person, I hope to make this one last lifetime.

I'm not suggesting that everyone rush out and get married (not even those living in sin). But if it happens sometime during your allotted years that you are lucky enough to find just the right person, you will find out that love and marriage really do go together.

If you have found your cup, congratulations. If you are still looking, good luck!

Super athletes, super scholars

There are two remarkable stories to report this week about Glades area students.

Competing as scholars in the National Academic Games competition, the Glades delegation turned in one of the top performances in the country.

Competing as athletes, Pahokee High School won both the boys and girls state track championships.

It was good news all the way around. All those concerned deserve our appreciation and congratulations.

Work together to conserve water

A water shortage emergency was declared by South Florida Water Management District Wednesday, May 6.

It is now official: we have a water shortage problem and we have to work together to conserve our water.

Until the rains return and replenish the lake, we are going to have to make conscientious efforts to reduce our water use.

All of us will have to cut back on watering our lawns, taking baths or extended showers, repair the leaky plumbing and take all of the other steps necessary to ensure there is enough water for everyone.

Though there is a declared emergency, there is no reason for panic, so long as we cooperate and work together.

Speaking softly is the only way

Speaking softly is sometimes the only possible way. I have been called a lot of names, including big mouth, but no one has been able to call me that for a few days last week. I totally lost my voice.

I should have known something was up when I got to work Monday morning and read my horoscope. "A day like you are going to have today, should not happen to a dog."

I took one look at my horoscope and joked that I was going home and back to bed. Little did I know that I should have.

A customer came in the door. He remarked that I sounded a little hoarse. After that it was "gonevillie" for my voice.

The hardest thing I have had to do was answer the phone.

I called one of my ad accounts and the conversation went like this:

"Hello!" I heard on the other end.

"Hello," I tried to squeak, but managed only a peep.

"Hello," Came the reply.

Again I tried to speak. "Hello this is Anita."

The voice sounded perturbed. "Must be some kind of a peep."

This was the end of our conversation. I immediately hung up the phone.

My roommate, Linda, got out of the hospital recently. She is not supposed to lift anything, nor be on her feet a lot. Between her answering the phone and my answering the door, we have had a real party at our house this week. Both of us hobbled around the house desperately trying to help one another. Me being her legs and her being my mouth!

My weeklong frustration came to a head one day when I tried to pull out of my driveway. Lying there was one of man's best friends, a dog intent only in soaking up some sun. I rolled down my window to ask the nice doggie to please move. I opened my mouth, but no sound came out. Rover just lay there, not even scratching a flea.

Luckily, I found my voice this week. But if I hadn't, I'm sure that my mind would have followed my voice to where ever it went.

WORKMEN erect a new sports sign denoting achievement for the 1980 Glades Day High School Gator football team. The Gators took the 1980 Florida Class A state championship with a perfect 13-0 record.

The Glades Central High School Graphic Arts Department, under instructor Harry Bloomquist, designed and constructed the sign, donating it to Glades Day and Belle Glade. Before the new Gator sign was put up last week, the previous sign commemorated another state football champion—the Class AAA Glades Central Raiders of 1971-72.

Two signs were made, one for the western and one for the eastern city limits. The signs were a Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce project. The chamber honored the Glades Central students who built the signs with a special ceremony last week.

7 graduate from West Tech Center Course

BELLE GLADE—Seven trainees graduated Monday, May 4, from West Tech Center with certification in Diesel Mechanics. The group was in a nine-month training program.

The program, begun in August, 1980, was run cooperatively by Glade and Grove Supply Company, Inc., the local International Harvester Dealer, and West Technical Center, Belle Glade's new vocational school.

Trainees spent the first five months of the program in classroom training at West Tech, then received on-the-job training at Glade and Grove's shop in Belle Glade.

This program was the first of its kind sponsored through the Palm Beach County Industry Council, Inc. the Council, a private, non-profit corporation funded by the Department of Labor under CETA Title VII, establishes training programs "custom tailored" for individual businesses.

It is anticipated that the certification and graduation of these seven participants will help answer Glade and Grove Supply Company's need, and the entire area's growing need, for qualified diesel mechanics.

Given the success of this program, the Industry Council, through West Tech and several local equipment dealers, has already begun a new and similar program which will train another nine diesel mechanics.

Christian Day wins region, aims for sectionals

By JIM JONES
Christian Day School conquered Pope John Paul 2-1 at John Stretch Park in Lake Harbor to win the Region 6 baseball championship Tuesday, May 5.

The Crusaders travel to St. Petersburg to play Shorecrest Friday, May 6, for the sectional championship and the right to take part in state playoffs May 14-15.

Christian Day improved its record to 22-3 — best in school history — with the win over Pope John Paul. William Cruz picked up his 14th win in 15 decisions as he fired a five-hitter and struck out eight.

Shea threw a four-hitter at the Crusaders.
Alex Morales scored Christian Day's first run in the first inning on a triple by William Cruz. Pope John Paul came back to tie the score in the fifth inning as Cruz walked two batters with two outs and Aaron Suto singled in Rob Scott.

In the sixth inning, Christian Day closed out the scoring as Jesus Armas walked, stole second, and scored on Alex Morales' single to right field. "Our defense and pitching kept us right in there," Crusader Coach Gus Harman said. "Give credit to Shea for a fine job in shutting us down. We did manage to get our key hits."

The victory meant a lot to Harman and his players. "I'm so happy for the boys. I had tears in my eyes because they were so happy. That's my reward, just seeing them have a great time," he said.

Happy days have been long overdue at Christian Day, where just two years ago, the Crusaders were pulling out of a slump in which they won only five games in a three year period. Harman, now in just his second year of coaching after graduating from Carson Newman College in Tennessee, put his team on the winning track in 1980 with a 13-10 record and a district championship.

Christian Day earned the right to face Pope John Paul by beating Glades Day 9-3 Friday, May 1.

After falling behind 3-0 lead in the first inning, Glades Day came back to tie the game in the second inning. Gator catcher Richard Burns' hit was the key to that rally. But Christian Day came back in the seventh inning to blow the game open and end up with a 9-3 win. Juan Armas was Christian Day's top hitter with three singles and three RBIs, while Alex Morales had a double, triple and two doubles, and had two doubles, and William Cruz, James Barnwell, and Tracy Shealy had singles.

TRACY SHEALY slides home against Glades Day Friday, May 1, as the Crusaders beat the Gators for the district championship.

BAT GIRL Maria Figuerias returns a bat to the dugout, while Christian Day batter Alex Morales prepares to take his turn at the plate Friday, May 1, against Glades Day.

on the lane divider. Members of that disqualified team were Rawls, Powell, Currier Johnson, and Larry Peste.

Although Pabok's was his best of the mile relay, the time was good enough only for fifth place. It was a crucial fifth place, however, and assured the Blue Devils of a share of the state championship. Members of the mile relay team were Charles Johnson, Larry Peste, Jeffrey Mullins, and Len Powell.

The double win had an electric effect on Pabok's High School.

"They are really excited. It will do so much for us next year. They are ready to run," Russell said.

Pabok's win in girl competition was 31-30 over Mount Dora.

Kimberly Powell scored nine points with 110 foot dash throw for second place and a 37 foot shot put effort for third place.

Sylvia Robertson was fourth in the 110 hurdles with a time of 15.5.

Frankman Karen Joseph placed fifth in the 100 yard dash with a time of 11.6 and was sixth in the 220 yard dash with a time of 26.5.

account for Pabok's other individual place in the meet.

Pabok's mile medley team was third with a time of 4:38. Members included Sharon Johnson, Sheila Wilson, Sabrina Jones, and Sharon Freeman.

The mile relay team of Sharon Freeman, Karen Joseph, Sylvia Robertson and Ernestine Graham was second. The 440 relay team was disqualified for stepping out of their lane.

Russell pointed to two factors in winning the championship. His athletes were rested, happy, and ready to run; and 2. His top runner avoided the Pabok's pulled-muscle jinx.

In recent years, Pabok's top runner has entered the state meet with pulled muscles and been unable to run with authority. Sprinter Leonard Jones turned up lame for the state meet last year. But Albert Gray avoided injury and entered the state meet hale and hearty this year.

"Most kids will run the kids out of gas before the end of the season. The big thing in track is keeping you kids happy. As long as a kid runs because he wants to, you are better off," Russell said.

Consider time sharing for your vacation

If you spend vacation time in the same place each year, but cannot afford a vacation home there, you may want to buy a "time-share" in a resort condominium. Various ownership and rental plans are available, and the Florida Institute of Certified Public Accountants advises you to consider the tax aspects and actual costs before putting any money into such a venture.

Here's how time-sharing works. Let's say you "buy" the use of a furnished condominium at the seashore during the last two weeks of July, every year for the next ten years. If the purchase price is $10,000 and you pay a yearly maintenance fee of $125, basically you get a two-week vacation for $1,125 a year. This doesn't take into account deductions for property taxes or loan interest, if you don't pay cash, or probable increases in a maintenance fee.

With time-sharing, you beat yearly rent increases. In addition, if you pay for the time-share with a personal loan from a bank or the developer, interest is deductible from your federal income tax. Your share of the real estate taxes are also deductible, so the tax advantages of time-sharing are similar to those of home ownership. Because of time-sharing is a recent phenomenon — ten years ago it was unknown — it's hard to tell how it stacks up as an investment. Assuming your "time-share" is well located, it should appreciate just like other property. If you consider appreciation and tax benefits, time-sharing could be a vacation bargain.

According to the American Land Development Association (ALDA), a quarter million Americans own time-shares, and spent an estimated billion dollars last year. Before you join their ranks, be wary of the hard sell. Investigate the development. Talk to others to find out if problems exist.

There are two basic types of ownership plans: "interval ownership" and "tenancy in common." The average one-time price for each week bought under either plan is $5,500. Generally, when you finance a time-share purchase, you make a down payment of 15 to 25 percent of the total price, and pay the balance in monthly payments over five or six years.

Under "interval ownership," you own an undivided interest in your unit for a certain period of time each year.

Q: During the early stages of construction of our new home, my wife and I made a personal loan to the contractor (who has since filed bankruptcy). The wife (1980) which was to be used to pay some subcontractors. Do we have to have a lawyer to collect our $800?

H.M., Deland

A: No. Parties can represent themselves in court. The Florida Rules of Summary Procedure apply where the amount in controversy is $1,500 or less. An action is commenced by filing a statement of claim in concise form which informs the other party of the basis and the amount of the claim. You should file a statement of claim against the wife in the county court, if the liability for the payment of the loan is joint. Any claim against the husband would have to be filed in the federal bankruptcy court.

Q: My husband and I have all our property in both names. If one of us dies, can any of the children from either of our previous marriages claim or make trouble over any of the property? Do we need a will? Everything is jointly held.

T.P., West Palm Beach

A: For properties held by the husband and wife as tenants by the entirety, on the death of the first person, the property is immediately vested in the name of the survivor. Children from either previous marriage can make no claim on the property. Even where property is held jointly between spouses, it is always recommended that there be a will to cover the contingency in the event that either spouse may have an interest in property that is unknown at the time, or may, in fact, inherit property from some other individual and not have sufficient time to place it in joint ownership prior to his or her death.

Q: For the past 35 months, we have been renting a house and we do not yet have keys for the front door. We bought a padlock for the back door. We have also advised the landlord of leaks in the roof and downspouts. Last month, our rent was raised and a new landlord took over (we were not advised of this change until it came time to pay rent). Do we have any rights in this matter?

T.T., Fort Meade

A: Assuming that you do not wish to move, you can give the landlord seven days written notice of specific roof and downspout conditions and state your intention to withhold rent until the repairs are made. Keep a copy of the letter. If the landlord fails to make the repairs, and chooses to sue you for the rent or to recover possession of the house, this letter will serve as a defense. Caution: Do not spend the rent money which you withhold, as the court will require you to deposit the full amount owed in the registry of the court until a judgment is reached. You will ultimately have to pay a reduced rent for the period of time that the landlord was not in compliance. In a single family house or duplex, the landlord has no obligation to supply locks and keys.

An alternative to withholding rent would be to sue the landlord for noncompliance. In order to hold down rent increases, you should try to sign a rental agreement for a Q: I have been told that if the Equal Rights Amendment is ratified, homosexuals will be allowed to marry and adopt children legally. Is this true?

E.B., Belle Glade

A: The Equal Rights Amendment is an amendment to equalize the rights of the sexes, not the sexes' sexual preferences. Since homosexuality denotes a sexual preference, the amendment does not address itself specifically to the question. State laws currently controlling in the areas of marriage and adoption should not be affected by the amendment, other than to eliminate any preferences, given either sex in regard to child custody, alimony, child support, etc. However, most of these preferences have been eliminated by statute.

It remains to be seen how the Court will interpret the Equal Rights Amendment if it is adopted. The text of the amendment is as follows: Section 1 — Equality of Rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex.

Section 2 — The Congress shall have the power to enforce by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this article.

Section 3 — This amendment shall take effect two (2) years after the date of ratification. For further information on this topic, there is an article titled "Legality of Homosexual Marriage" Yale Law Journal, Volume 88, Year 1973, Pages 283 to 302.

Due to the complexity of the law, questions answered in this column are of a general nature and may not necessarily apply to a similar legal problem.

Send your questions about the law to "Your Law," The Florida Star, Tallahassee, Florida 32301.

Why my mother should be Mother Of The Year

Part of being grown-up is buying a card for Mother on Mother's Day. Sometimes a lot of care goes into choosing the message that best says what we want to say. But alas! Grown-up sentiments are usually written by somebody else—few of us write our own. Not so with little children. Their message may be simple. And misspelled. But they can write, "I love you" and find everyday reasons for expressing their gratitude.

This week's Vista is a VOLUME OF Mother's Day messages written by elementary school children to their mothers. All of them are poetry and some even rhyme.

But most of all, the messages tell all mothers that it's the little things that seem to count.

A mother is someone I love. She helps me when I get hurt. She takes me places sometimes. She takes me to the skating rink. She takes me to the Dinos Pizza Inn. She cooks when I'm hungry. She is gentle to me. She makes my bed. She turns air conditioner when it gets hot.

Albert H.
Grove Elementary
Grade three.

A mother is a nice lady with children. My mother works at A. Duda and Sons Inc. And my grand mother is her boss. She cleans the house like most women. She cooks, folds clothes, takes care of us, and still has time to eat.

Derrick, Gove Elementary

A mother is a doctor. She buy me a dress and shoes. She washes for me. She loves me. I love her too. She is nice. She lets me go with her. I sent her two flowers.

Tiffany Third Grade
Gove Elementary.

A mother is a good helper around house. She is a beautiful woman. She cleans the clothes. She cooks us dinner.

Love John Taylor

My mother is outstanding because she is truthful with us we discuss our problems with her and I love her because she is helpful too. That's why my mother is outstanding.

Felicia Vichers
Rosenwald Elementary.

My mother is outstanding because when I get hurt or something I can rely on her to be there. That's why my mother is outstanding.

Chuck
Rosenwald Elementary

Rosenwald Elementary.

My mother is outstanding because she brought me into the world. She believes in me she loves me and I love her. She is the world to me.

Shauna F. Sydes
Rosenwald Elementary.

My mother is outstanding because she loves me in every kind of way. She helps when I need it. She helps me understand what's wrong and what's right. And my mother takes time to listen to me when I have something interesting to tell. My mothers outstanding I guess, because she's my mother.

Ricky Peete

I think my mother should be mother of the year because she is so kind and considerate and she is very strict because she wants me to be as good as I can be. And she tries to teach me all of the good manners that she knows and she loves me very much and that is why I think she should be mother of the year and I also love her very much.

George Silva
Gove Elementary

I think my mother should be Mother of the year because she buys me shoes and clothes and she gives me money. I give her money, too. I won't do what she tells me to do so I won't get hit. At night time I wash dishes. The morning before we go to school my brother and I make up the beds, and when we leave for school the house is clean.

Sam Lane
Belle Glade Elementary

Why My Mother should be Mother of the Year? My mother should be Mother of the Year because she is very nice to me. She buys me shoes and she buys me clothes. My mother is so nice to me that's what makes her so special. I love her and she loves me.

Sheretha Nix
Belle Glade Elementary

My mother should be mother of the year because she is nice to me. She washes dishes, and cleans the house every day. I stay home and do my homework. I love my mother and she loves me.

I love my whole family. Sometimes my mother let me go to the park and sometimes I wash dishes my mother is a special lady.

Latrissa O'Neal
Belle Glade Elementary

I would like for my mother to be mother of the year because she feeds me. And she gives me a place to stay. She gives me clothes to go to school in. And she works and she gives me money when I ask her if she has it. And she takes me on trips. And she loves me that's why she takes care of me. She is sweet and kind to me.

That's why I'd want her to be mother of the year. Walter Millsap
Gove Elementary

She cleans all day gets me and my brother up for school, washes clothes, hangs out clothes, she cooks supper, she does the dishes from supper. And that's why I think she should be "Mother of the Year" so she can relax.

Susan Miller
Gove Elementary

My mother should be "Mother of the Year" because she tells us what's good for us and what's bad for us. She wipes us when we do something bad. And she helps us keep in clothes. And she makes sure that we are well and if we are not well she will help us get well. She will help me in my homework when I get stuck. She helps me with my reading when I need help.

Thank You,

Princess Love Boat docks at Pahokee Elementary

PAHOKEE — It was good bye, Pahokee and hello to the world when more than 500 students at Pahokee Elementary School boarded the "princess Love Boat" with Captain Jackie Moore, for a 120 minutes tour around the world.

The boat sailed from the Pahokee High School football field Thursday, April 30 to start the journey to the dance of the May Pole at the annual May Festival for 1981.

Assisting Captain Moore was Dr. Harris Blumberg and several crew members.

The ship's first stop was Hawaii where the pre-kindergarten students dressed in the colors of the rainbow welcomed their parents and well wishers to "Come to My Island."

From there the kindergarten students in shades of green invited the audience to "Do Your Own Thing" in Europe.

It was "Pinto Pinto" from Africa with the first grade and "Sugar Bum Bum" from Jamaica with the second grade.

Continuing its tour through the high seas, "Princess Love Boat" docked in Asia and the "Kung Fu Fighters" for the third grade kicked off would be dancers.

After escaping from Asia, Captain Moore guided the boat to South America and was greeted by the fourth grade with "Samba."

Just South of the border, Mexico, the bi-lingual students in third and fourth grade performed "La Ras-pa." And awaiting the group back home, Pahokee High School had a "ho down" with square dancing from the United States of America.

After docking back at the Pahokee High School football field, several fourth grade girls entertained Captain Moore and her guest aboard the ship with the Maypole dance.

The Royal Court aboard the "Princess Love Boat" was Queen Theresa Knight and King Anthony Shepherd.

Attendants, Kenza Osborne and John Davis; Jessica Garcia and Sterling Harmon; Sequoia Golson and Ontario Graham; Wendy Pittman and Christopher Alejandro and Co-captains, Tashel Jones, Melvin Hill and Gerrick Moore.

Pahokee Elementary School dedicated its annual May Day Festival to Mrs. Sue Maxwell Mead. Mrs. Moore said she acknowledges the faculty, administration, the student body of Pahokee Elementary School and the Special Activity Commit-

Scout-O-Rama is Saturday

The Wonderful World of Scouting is the theme for the 1981 Scout-O-Rama, schedule for Saturday, May 9, from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m., at West Tech in Belle Glade.

Scouting troops from Belle Glade, Moore Haven, Pahokee, South Bay and Clewiston, will show booths and crafts that day. The annual event is designed to show the public what scouting is all about.

According to Rob Carver, district executive of the Gulf Stream Boy Scout Council.

The main events will be the district run-off for the Pinewood Derby local champs and graduation of Webelos into Boy Scouting.

The booths will include demonstrations and displays, books, covering pioneering, first aid, and woodworking. Carver said. There will also be a Jaycee dunk tank and a canoe demonstration in front of West Tech. Belle Glade Mayor Tom Altman will conduct the opening ceremonies.

People interested in supporting scouting and taking in the day of fun can buy tickets for donations from any scout in the area. Children under 11 years old are admitted free.

Local scouts are competing for prizes, depending on how many tickets they sell. Prizes the scouts can earn range from first aid kits to official scout tents.

The scouts are setting up their booths by themselves to show the public what scouting is all about, and "just to have a good time," Carver said. He also said that the Glades Central High School Jazz Band may be playing during the event.

The scouts earn money for their individual troops. Carver said, through this event, as well as prizes. "Support your scouts; buy a ticket," Carver said. Food and refreshments will be available during the event.

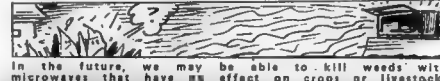

Hamilton promoted

Emma D. Hamilton, daughter of Irene Davis of 909 S.W. Ave. B, Belle Glade, has been promoted in the U.S. Army to the rank of major.

Combat eye injuries at school

Eye safety is a priority need for our nation's students, according to Edward C. Gelber, M.D., Chairman of the Eye Safety Committee of the National Society to Prevent Blindness, Florida Affiliate. "School settings that pose threats to eyesight—such as vocational education, science classes and sports programs—call for eye safety precautions and protection. Ninety percent of all eye injuries can be prevented. Students must be alerted to the potential dangers to sight and use appropriate protective eyewear."

To reduce the thousands of eye injuries suffered by school age children each year, the Society offers a comprehensive eye safety education program.

"An Option to See," designed for junior and senior high vocational education programs, presents key facts about eye safety and protection through a film and companion teaching materials. In a special segment workers talk about actual on-the-job accidents in which their eyes were spared by safety eyewear. All became members of the Society's Wise Owl Club of America, and eye safety incentive program for schools as well as industry.

For more information about eye safety for school children or to obtain these materials, contact the National Society to Prevent Blindness, Florida Affiliate, P.O. Box 18673, Tampa, Fla. 33679.

Combine business with pleasure and deduct vacation cost

The need to get away from everyday pressures and routine makes a lot of us look upon vacations as necessities, rather than luxuries. Although it may be difficult to fit vacation expenses into the family budget, considering rising costs of hotels and air-plane tickets, you can cut vacation costs by combining your excursions with business, job interviews or even house-hunting. Some of the expenses may be deductible on your federal income tax return, according to the Florida Institute of Certified Public Accountants.

Combine your business trip with a vacation in the same general location, CPAs say and you can deduct your transportation and any other business-related expenses you incur. For example, when you attend eight days of meetings in Washington, DC, you and your family can plan a two-week vacation around it.

You can deduct your own (not your family's) round-trip air fare and your lodging expenses during the time you were conducting business. If the hotel's room rate is $80 and the single room rate is $60 you can only deduct the single rate for the nights you stay in town for business. You can also deduct taxi or bus fare, meals, tips and other expenses you alone incurred during the business portion of the trip.

The key to claiming business deductions is to keep the records required by the IRS. Note the cost of your transportation, meals, lodging and incidental expenses; the dates of departure and return; the number of days you're away from home; destination, and the business purpose for the trip, CPAs say. Keep receipts for expenditures of $25 or more.

If you decide to conduct some business while on vacation, you cannot deduct your transportation costs to and from your destination, say CPAs, because the primary purpose of the trip is your personal pleasure. However, if you meet with (not your family's) round-trip air fare and your lodging expenses during the time you were conducting business while you and your family are visiting Washington, these business-related costs at the place where you're vacationing are deductible, say CPAs.

If you rent a car for the trip, and one-quarter of the car's use was for business, deduct one-quarter of the rental cost. If you use your own car, keep records of the mileage. You can claim the standard mileage rate (twenty cents a mile for the first 15,000 miles and eleven cents a mile for additional mileage or for fully depreciated cars) for business use of the car.

You can plan your vacation around a job search, deducting some or all of your travel expenses and living costs, depending upon the amount of time spent searching for employment in relation to personal time on the trip. You must be looking for a job in the same line of work you're in now.

For example, you want to find a job in Washington, DC and you take your family with you. As long as the majority of your time is related to your job hunt, you can deduct your round-trip transportation and all of your living expenses (but not those of your family members).

Even if most of your time is spent on sight-seeing and other personal activities, you can deduct your living expenses on days when you primarily looked for a job. In either case, CPAs say, you can deduct expenses that relate directly to the job search, such as taxi fares to and from interviews and phone calls from your hotel to potential employers.

If your job search in Washington was successful, you can return there and do some more sight-seeing, as long as the main purpose of the trip is to look for a new home.

Chile's first president, Bernardo O'Higgins, won his revolution with the help of a manager. At the Battle of Rancagua in 1814, O'Higgins, wounded and badly outnumbered, had his men round up every animal in the village and stamped them toward the Spanish lines, which broke.
